Market Segment Outlooks

Financial Data Presented

The financial data in this report reflects the most current data available to the Analytical Team at the time of the rating. Updates to the financial exhibits in this report are available here: Best's Financial Report.

Rating Rationale

Balance Sheet Strength: Very Strong

- Reserve National Insurance Company's (RNIC) risk-adjusted capitalization, as measured by Best's Capital Adequacy Ratio, is assessed at the strongest level.
- The company continues to comfortably exceed the risk-based capital requirements specified by the NAIC. In 2024, capital and surplus grew to $66.4 million.
- RNIC's overall liquidity is supported by strong cash flow generation, excess capital and a conservative investment portfolio.
- The support from its parent, Medical Mutual of Ohio (MMO), provides the company with additional financial flexibility. However, as part of the organization's broader capital management strategy and RNIC's strong earnings in recent years, management anticipates upstreaming dividends to the parent company when appropriate.

Operating Performance: Adequate

- RNIC has reported positive operating earnings in each of the past five years, driven by solid underwriting performance and consistent net investment income.
- In 2024, the company reported net income of $14.1 million compared to $11.8 million in 2023. Strong earnings over the last two years reflect net operating gains in RNIC's accident & health (A&H) business.
- Return metrics were positive in 2024 and have generally compared favorably to the industry composite over the recent five-year period.
- The company's direct premiums have decreased over the last five years. RNIC has emphasized product development and refinement following its acquisition by MMO, which is expected to lead to growth going forward.

Business Profile: Limited

- RNIC was acquired by MMO on December 1, 2022. As part of the MMO family, RNIC has benefited from system and technological integration as well as additional product and geographic diversification.
- RNIC's business profile is constrained by its scale on a standalone basis as well as its concentration in the supplemental A&H space.
- The company is well diversified geographically and provides coverage throughout the United States on an individual and group basis. However, as part of its product refinement initiatives, RNIC plans to discontinue its group business beginning in August 2025.
- RNIC operates primarily in the A&H market, targeting the ACA alternative segment. Its recent integration into a larger health organization is expected to enhance its competitive position.

Enterprise Risk Management: Appropriate

- ERM is managed at the parent company level and is integrated into each subsidiary, including RNIC.
- The ERM framework is fully developed and encompasses appropriate risk tolerance and capital management policies that align with the organization's overall risk profile.
- The ERM program supports strategic decision-making for RNIC and MMO through regular monitoring of key risks and appropriate mitigation strategies to reduce the potential impact or risks.

Outlook

- The stable outlooks reflect the expectation that RNIC will maintain the very strong balance sheet strength assessment to support growth and capital management initiatives. Additionally, the stable outlooks reflect RNIC's relationship with MMO and the support and strategic alignment with MMO.

Rating Drivers

- Negative rating action may occur due to a material decline in the balance sheet strength of the company or in the event of a change in the relationship with its parent, Medical Mutual of Ohio.
- Negative rating action may occur if an adverse trend in operating performance were reported.

- Positive rating action may occur due to a continued expansion of the company's business profile through geographic and product diversification initiatives.

Credit Analysis

Balance Sheet Strength

Reserve National Insurance Company's (RNIC) overall balance sheet strength is assessed at the very strong level, driven by the strongest level of risk-adjusted capitalization as measured by Best's Capital Adequacy Ratio (BCAR) and a solid liquidity profile, tempered in part by the company's (as well as its parent's) limited financial flexibility as a mutual organization without direct access to capital markets. Nonetheless, the company's balance sheet benefits from excess capital being held.

Capitalization

Total capital and surplus increased to $66.4 million compared to $55.8 million the year prior and $43.4 million in 2022. The increase in capital year-over-year was largely driven by a net operating gain of $14.1 million in 2024. In 2022, the large capital increase was predominantly driven by intercompany settlements with its former parent, United Insurance Company of America, caused by the sale of Reserve National in late 2022. This led to miscellaneous income of approximately $9.6 million in 2022 compared to none in 2023 and 2024. AM Best notes that prior years' volatility in capital and surplus stemmed from the company's involvement with its former parent, and relates to the payment of substantial dividends. In 2021, $26.1 million of capital was paid as a dividend to its parent, which caused the material decline in capital and surplus seen in that year. With its new ownership under Medical Mutual of Ohio, dividends have not been expected from Reserve National; however, given RNIC's consistent profitability, management believes its excess capital may be better utilized at the holding company. Therefore, RNIC is planning a regular dividend in the years going forward. However, AM Best notes RNIC's risk-adjusted capitalization is expected to remain within the guidelines for the strongest assessment.

On a regulatory front, the company's capital position is monitored on a quarterly basis and minimum capital requirements are managed to the most restrictive state. As a result, Reserve National maintains risk-based capital ratios well in excess of minimum regulatory requirements. Additionally, despite limited financial flexibility on a stand-alone basis, the company maintains adequate levels of liquidity with excess capital to service policyholder needs. The company also has access to its parent, Medical Mutual of Ohio, if additional capital were needed, although RNIC is expected to be self sufficient and grow capital organically.

Asset Liability Management - Investments

There have been no changes in RNIC's investment philosophy or approach from the prior year. Reserve National maintains a conservative and well-diversified investment portfolio with no holdings in equities or alternative investments. Investment holdings are limited to fixed income securities and cash equivalents, and all holdings are required to maintain an investment grade rating. The company is expected to transition to a laddered fixed income portfolio over the upcoming years to provide consistent liquidity and support asset liability management. As of YE 2024, fixed income represented 35% of invested assets while cash and short-term investments represented 65% of invested assets.

Reserve Adequacy

The reserves for unpaid policy and contract claims are estimated using individual-case-basis valuations and statistical analysis. These estimates are subject to the effect of trends in claim severity and frequency. The company has had no significant development in reserves for incurred loss adjustment expenses attributed to insured events for prior years. The company's reserves for claims and aggregate reserves totaled $63.6 million at December 31, 2024.

Holding Company Assessment

Medical Mutual of Ohio (MMO) is a mutual health insurer organization domiciled in Ohio. MMO and its subsidiaries provide commercial, Medicare Advantage (MA) and Medicare Supplement accident and health plans to both individuals and employer groups in Ohio. The company also provides stop loss coverage to uninsured accident and health plans.

Effective December 1, 2022, Medical Mutual of Ohio acquired Reserve National Insurance Company. The acquisition provides strategic alignment with product offerings and geographic expansion. Medical Mutual of Ohio has a history of supporting its subsidiaries via capital contributions. Additionally, Reserve National now benefits from being a part of a Health oriented enterprise with opportunity for additional growth and scale with the proper resources and expertise that will be provided by MMO.

Operating Performance

Reserve National's operating earnings have historically been constrained due to dividend payments to its former parent. Nonetheless, the company has reported positive net earnings in each of the last five years. Earnings have generally been driven by underwriting profits and consistent net investment income. In 2024, RNIC reported net income of $14.1 million compared to $11.8 million in 2023. Earnings in 2024 were driven by underwriting profit of $12.4 million and net investment income of $5.8 million.

During 2024 and 2023, the company's accident and health products generated direct written premium of $120.9 million and $131.5 million, respectively. Despite the decline in premiums, the accident and health products generated net income of $14.6 million compared to $13.1 million in the prior year due to a favorable loss ratio of 49% compared to 52% in the prior year. Direct life premiums decreased from $9.0 million in 2023 to $8.1 million in 2024. Reserve National's expense ratio has ticked over the five-year period, although slightly decreasing from 2022 to 2024. The reduction in expenses has been driven by lead generation and workforce optimization initiatives savings.

Since its acquisition by MMO, Reserve National has focused on refining its product suite. The company is well positioned for growth driven by internal capabilities, support from parent company and new ability to cross-sell Medical Mutual products. However, direct premiums decreased in 2024 for the company's accident and health products as well as its life products. To support growth, new products have been rolled out in 2024. Additionally, AM Best notes the group will discontinue its group products beginning in August 2025 which will allow the company to focus solely on the individual side, which has continued to be profitable. Lastly, due to a lack of profitability from certain product offerings within Senior Solutions, the company has exited the life insurance block and senior solutions home health care block in 2020. Existing liabilities remain on the company's books, while new policies will not be issued.

Business Profile

The following text relates specifically to Reserve National Insurance Company (AMB# 006998):

Reserve National Insurance Company (Reserve National) is a specialty accident and health (A&H) insurer headquartered in Oklahoma City, OK that provides coverage throughout the United States. Reserve National is currently licensed in 49 states and the District of Columbia. The company was acquired by Medical Mutual of Ohio in late 2022 from Kemper Corporation, which previously acquired it in 1998.

Reserve National is focused on the Great Plains, Southwest, Southeast and Midwest regions. As a small carrier in the niche supplemental A&H space, the company operates primarily in the Affordable Care Act (ACA) alternative space and faces stiff competition. However, under its new ownership, Reserve National benefits from the brand name of Medical Mutual of Ohio and its ability to cross-sell MMO products. The company is concentrated in providing A&H coverage, although well diversified within that niche. Reserve National offers healthcare products through two business segments: Individual and Worksite. Individual products include

Accident, Hospital Indemnity, Critical Illness/Specified Disease, Dental/Vision, Standard Medicare Supplement and Home Health Care. Medicare Supplement accounts for 30% of the individual book of business, the largest in that segment. Worksite products include Accident, Cancer/Critical Illness, Hospital Indemnity and GAP; however, worksite products are currently in run-off and will not be issuing new business as of August 2025. Critical Illness accounts for 33% of the worksite book of business, the largest in that segment. Senior Solutions products were placed in run-off beginning in early 2021 and Life business was placed in run-off at the end of 2021. Both are no longer issuing new business.

The following text is derived from Best's Credit Report on Kemper Life Group (AMB# 070340):

The Kemper Life Group comprises the combined life and health insurance operations of Kemper Corporation [NYSE: KMPR]. Kemper Life distributes products through a network of employee or 'career' agents, and focuses on providing individual life (incl. permanent and term) and a minor portion of supplemental accident and health insurance products to customers who desire basic protection for themselves and their families. Face amounts of these policies are lower than those of policies typically sold to higher income customers by other life insurers. Reserve National Insurance Company, formerly part of the Kemper Life Group, was sold to Medical Mutual of Ohio in late 2022. The transaction emphasized management's initiative to increase focus and invest additional resources into the P&C and Life business, which are considered core operations. While the sale diminished the group's overall product diversification, the group is well diversified from a geographic perspective, with licensing in 49 states and the District of Colombia. Texas accounts for the majority of business with roughly 24% of direct premiums written coming from that state.

AM Best notes that the career agency companies complement each other and have brand name recognition in their respective geographic regions, although sales growth during the pandemic had been challenged by the in-person nature of this sales model. A trained office staff supports the efforts of the agents and field management. Recognizing that the home service business is a mature market that requires extensive customer servicing, the business strategy has been directed toward building economies of scale and balancing the service intensive nature of the business with greater service efficiency. Nonetheless, there is further growth potential within the existing target market. In addition, agents utilize digital technologies to enhance the efficiency of their collection efforts. Strategies continue to be implemented to consolidate staff and streamline internal systems emphasizing more efficient means of processing policies and running support systems.

Enterprise Risk Management

Reserve National has a comprehensive ERM program that is adopted from that of its ultimate parent, MMO. Risk governance extends throughout the entire organization, down to individual business units, and ultimately every employee plays a role in risk management. However, ERM begins with MMO's Board establishing a clear direction for the organization. The Board is assisted by an ERM committee that meets quarterly to discuss emerging risks. Risks that guide the organizations overall risk appetite and tolerance levels include strategic, financial, credit, market, liquidity, and regulatory risk.

Reinsurance Summary

Reserve National ended reinsurance agreements with its previous parent, United Insurance Company, on 11/30/2022. Previously RNI business was 100% reinsured by United. At the time of the sale to MMO, RNI entered into an agreement with United to reinsure 100% of the Med Supplement business written by United and sold by RNI (about $10 million in-force at the time of the close), and provide administrative services with respect to the reinsured policies. This business has now shifted onto Medical Mutual Life paper, which is one of MMO's subsidiaries.

Environmental, Social & Governance

Reserve National Insurance Company and Medical Mutual of Ohio incorporate ESG factors into their business operations. The company has a strong governance system in place that is led by MMO's Board of Directors and supported by the ERM and Audit Committees. Although the Audit Committee is a subset of the Board, the full Board receives appropriate updates related to the ERM processes by either attending the Audit Committee meetings or receiving updates from the Audit Committee chair. The Audit Committee has created an ERM Committee to be a key oversight function of the internal risk management process.

Additionally, the company and its parent are well involved with community initiatives. As Medical Mutual is an Ohio based company, it provides the surrounding community with substantial resources dedicated to a variety of causes.
