Under Review Rationale

The ratings of the members of Bankers Fidelity Life Group have been placed under review with negative implications as the management of the ultimate parent, Atlantic American Corporation (Atlantic American), is late filing its year-end 2025 and first-quarter 2026 financial statements and will be unable to provide the filings tentatively until the third quarter of 2026. This is the second time Atlantic American has been late in its filings in the past five years and for the exact same reason. In 2023, Atlantic American was late because it was implementing accounting changes. While management does not anticipate a significant change in results of operations from the corresponding prior-year period, it is unable to provide the analytical team of AM Best with preliminary results for year-end 2025.

AM Best will continue to monitor this situation and provide updates as conditions warrant.

The following report commentary and financial exhibits contained in the Best's Credit Report pertain to the previous rating event and have not been updated with this Under Review rating event. To view the most current financial information available, please refer to the Best's Financial Report.

Rating Rationale

Balance Sheet Strength: Very Strong

- Bankers Fidelity Life Insurance Group (BFLIG) maintains a very strong level of risk-adjusted capitalization for its insurance, investment and business risks as measured by Best's Capital Adequacy Ratio (BCAR). The BCAR declined to the very strong level in 2024 from the strongest level in the prior year.
- Capital and surplus has fluctuated over the last five years, reflecting a negative 3.4% five-year compound annual growth rate at year-end 2025, mainly due to unrealized capital losses and dividends paid to its parent company exceeding capital contributions received from its parent company.
- Benefits from contingent liquidity and financial flexibility via an undrawn line of credit with the Federal Home Loan Bank of Atlanta.
- While the majority of invested assets consist of investment-grade fixed-income securities, 47.7% of these are higher-risk NAIC Class 2 issues, which materially exceeds the average for life and health carriers. Also, equity holdings, while relatively small, are concentrated in one entity.

Operating Performance: Adequate

- BFLIG grew net premiums written slightly in 2025 from the previous year due mainly to sales of new Medicare supplement products related to its new Medicare charter. In prior years, net premiums written had declined annually from customer terminations in response to rate increases, more stringent underwriting of the Medicare supplement segment and slower-than-anticipated introduction of new Medicare supplement products.
- Volatile operating performance over the last five years due to generally decreasing net premiums written, mixed underwriting results and the transition to supplemental worksite business to diversify revenue. Reported net underwriting income in 2025 after reporting a net underwriting loss in the prior year from elevated expenses and a higher loss ratio in Medicare supplement.
- Implemented initiatives in recent years to improve underwriting results included appropriate rate increases and more stringent underwriting of Medicare supplement, the transition to ancillary products that generally have lower loss ratios and enhanced analytical capabilities.
- Grew net investment income annually over the last four years due to higher interest yields.

Business Profile: Neutral

- BFLIG operates in highly competitive Medicare supplement, life and supplemental health markets where competition includes both larger national carriers and new entrants.
- While the majority of new sales in recent years have been derived from ancillary health products owing to its strategic diversification strategy, business remains concentrated in Medicare supplement as this historically has been its core product. Business is well diversified geographically.
- Maintains a moderate share of the Medicare supplement market and is steadily increasing its worksite market presence.

Enterprise Risk Management: Appropriate

- BFLIG operates under parent company Atlantic American Corporation's formal enterprise risk management (ERM) program.
- Its monthly "ERM Round Table" committee meetings involving executive, regulatory, actuarial, financial, operational and internal audit staff enable the determination of potential risks and serve as a multi-disciplinary view for assessing, monitoring and addressing risks.
- Identified and documented its material risks, risk tolerance levels and risk-mitigating factors.
- Updates the board of directors quarterly about ERM program strategies and results.

Rating Drivers

- Negative rating action could occur if enterprise risk management does not evolve with the organization's risk profile particularly if capital management and stress testing capabilities remain limited.
- Negative rating action could occur from a sustained trend of unfavorable operating results.
- While unlikely, positive rating action could occur from appreciable, sustained strengthening of balance sheet metrics.

Credit Analysis

Balance Sheet Strength

Bankers Fidelity Life Insurance Group's (BFLIG) balance sheet strength assessment is very strong. The group has received modest capital contributions from its parent Atlantic American Corporation (Atlantic American) to sustain capital levels and offset volatility caused mainly by unrealized capital losses and other changes to capital. AM Best notes that BFLIG regularly pays dividends to support administrative services performed by the parent and parent company obligations.

Capitalization

Risk-adjusted capitalization is at the very strong level, as measured by Best's Capital Adequacy Ratio (BCAR), for its insurance, investment and business risks. In 2025, capital & surplus grew slightly due to net income and an unrealized capital gain, partially offset by a paid dividend, an increase to the asset valuation reserve and aggregate other negative changes. Unrealized losses in recent years were driven by a decline in the market value of an equity position in an affiliated company, which comprises the vast majority of its equity allocation. AM Best expects BFLIG to be less reliant on Atlantic American to maintain stable capital and surplus in the near to mid term as an expected sustained favorable underwriting performance trend leads to internally generated growth.

The group has maintained satisfactory underwriting leverage ratios and solid adjusted capital & surplus to liability ratios, which were 3.3 to 1 and 24.6%, respectively, at year end 2025. Reinsurance leverage is somewhat elevated at 94.2% due to its quota share agreement with General Re Life Corporation for Medicare supplement business. Liquidity is adequate, as evidenced by 100.7% current and 124.6% overall liquidity ratios reported. Financial flexibility is enhanced by access to an external borrowing capacity through its membership with the Federal Home Loan Bank of Atlanta.

Asset Liability Management - Investments

BFLIG engages an external asset management firm to manage its investment portfolio, in line with their investment strategy to prioritize the retention of investment income. At year end 2025, invested assets consisted mostly of fixed income securities, with cash & short-term investments, common stock, Schedule BA assets and policy loans comprising the remainder. While fixed income holdings were composed almost entirely of investment grade issues, allocation to higher risk NAIC Class 2 securities was elevated at 47.7%. Fixed income securities are composed mostly of corporate issues and, to a much lesser extent, US government and US state/special revenue issues. Allocation to equities was modest, but there was concentration risk regarding its holding in a single affiliated entity. Schedule BA assets were comprised of an interest in a private commercial real estate fund.

Holding Company Assessment

BFLIG is a wholly owned subsidiary of Atlantic American, an insurance holding company based in Atlanta, GA, with both property & casualty and life & health insurance operations. The group, consisting of lead company Bankers Fidelity Life Insurance Company and its wholly owned subsidiaries, Bankers Fidelity Assurance Company (BFAC) and Atlantic Capital Life Assurance Company (ACLAC), markets supplemental health and life insurance.

BFLIG, composing approximately 76% of Atlantic American's consolidated shareholders' equity, significantly diversifies its parent company's net insurance premium as its supplemental health and life insurance operations generate approximately 57% of Atlantic American's consolidated net premiums written.

Atlantic American has contributed $4 million of capital to BFLIG between 2021 and 2025 to maintain capitalization levels and is expected to continue to provide support if needed.

Operating Performance

Except for 2025, BFLIG's net premiums written have gradually decreased annually over the last five years owing to declining Medicare supplement business partially offset by growth in ancillary accident & health product sales. However, net premiums written grew slightly in 2025 due mainly to sales of new Medicare supplement products related to its new Medicare charter at ACLAC. Before 2025, Medicare supplement net premiums written trended downward from lower new sales and policy terminations driven by rate increases and more stringent underwriting. In recent years, the group has prioritized risk selection and emphasized quality of business over quantity of business.

Volatility underwriting results were reported in recent years. After reporting a net underwriting loss in 2021, the group reported net underwriting income in the next two years from improved experience in Medicare supplement and continued positive experience in its ancillary lines of business. Following a reported net underwriting loss in 2024 driven by a higher loss ratio and reserve increases for Medicare supplement and elevated expenses, the group reported net underwriting income at year-end 2025. Favorable underwriting experience reported after 2021 was driven by various initiatives implemented to stabilize Medicare supplement experience including rate increases, more stringent underwriting and enhanced data and analytics. Also, the group has been diversifying its product mix via growth in lower loss ratio supplementary accident and health and life products, which continue to gradually compose a larger portion of business.

Net investment income has furnished stable and consistent support to operating results, especially since BFLIG engaged an external asset management firm to enhance performance, prioritizing the retention of investment income. Investment income grew annually over the last five years due mainly to the higher interest rate environment.

Business Profile

Bankers Fidelity Life Insurance Group (BFLIG) consists of Bankers Fidelity Life Insurance Company (BFLIC) and its wholly owned subsidiaries, Bankers Fidelity Assurance Company (BFAC) and Atlantic Capital Life Assurance Company (ACLAC). BFLIC, founded in 1955 and headquartered in Atlanta, GA, is a subsidiary of Atlantic American Corporation (Atlantic American), an insurance holding company that maintains both property & casualty and life & health insurance operations. BFLIC is licensed in 46 states and the District of Columbia.

In December 2013, BFLIC acquired Direct Life Insurance Company from Direct General Insurance Company via a stock purchase and renamed the company Bankers Fidelity Assurance Company (BFAC). Effective January 1, 2015, BFAC entered a reinsurance agreement ceding all in-force policies issued on or after January 1, 2014 and, on an automatic coinsurance basis, all policies issued after January 1, 2015 to BFLIC. ACLAC was established in the fourth quarter of 2022 to offer flexibility in the Medicare supplement pricing and drive new sales. The entity began writing new business in the Fall of 2023 which, like BFAC, is fully ceded to BFLIC. Both BFAC and ACLAC share common management and distribution force and market their products with the Bankers Fidelity Life brand.

BFLIG's operations consist of two distinct segments; Individual/Senior and Worksite/Voluntary. While business is fairly well diversified geographically, it is concentrated in Medicare supplement products, as these products comprise 67% of net earned premium. However, there has been steady gradual diversification toward more Worksite/Voluntary business. These products consist of life (mostly whole life) and supplemental accident & health products including cancer, critical illness, hospital indemnity, short-term disability and short-term care. Most in-force Medicare supplement business consists of standardized plans F and G, with the majority of currently issued Medicare supplement products being attained age products where premiums increase every year on a pre-determined scale.

BFLIG maintains a moderate share of the Medicare supplement market and is expanding its Worksite market presence. However, the group is challenged by highly competitive Medicare supplement, individual life and supplemental accident & health markets, with competition furnished by larger national carriers and new entrants. BFLIG is now marketing new, redesigned individual short-term care, cancer, hospital indemnity and final expense life products within the 18 to 85 age band, leveraging cross-sales to existing policyholders to increase wallet share and diversify the business mix. The group is also now strategically expanding its Worksite business within the 18 to 67 age band to additional states in the Southeast, Mid-Atlantic and West, with marketed products including group whole life, group accident, critical illness, hospital indemnity and voluntary short-term disability. It launched a new hospital indemnity product in 2022 and a new final expense whole life product in 2024.

Diversified distribution channels include field agents, call centers, licensed only agent-based organizations and brokers, as well as a direct-to-consumer channel that is in development. BFLIG is partnering with existing and new distributors to introduce its new products. The group now has 8,337 core agents.

Enterprise Risk Management

BFLIG operates under parent Atlantic American's Enterprise Risk Management (ERM) program, which was formalized in 2019. The group communicates program strategies and results quarterly to the Board of Directors. BFLIG has identified and documented its major risks, tolerance levels and mitigation measures. The group discusses potential risks and obtains a multi-disciplinary view for assessing, monitoring and addressing those risks via a monthly "ERM Round Table" committee meeting involving executive, regulatory, actuarial, financial, operational and internal audit staff. BFLIG uses sophisticated tools to measure and monitor risks. The group surveys organization personnel to identify risks and conducts "All Employee Meetings" quarterly to keep employees advised of company strategies, products and initiatives, as well as to promote a strong governance environment.

Senior management closely supervises staff across all levels and monitors actual versus budgeted financial results. BFLIG maintains a strong control environment and adheres to the COSO framework for internal controls, including well-defined roles and responsibilities that include separation of duties. Business unit heads are responsible for controls within their units and report on the adequacy of controls at least annually as documented in control narratives. Internal Audit meets regularly with department heads to discuss and test operational controls. The group maintains certifications and affiliations with professional industry groups to monitor trends. It also maintains an official code of conduct and ethics and promotes education and cross-training to develop a culture that is less task-based and more-risk based.

Regarding cyber security, BFLIG maintains a robust Security Information and Event Management (SIEM) system, which includes managed firewalls, intrusion protection systems, endpoint protection, intrusion detection systems and continuous monitoring of all systems. The group engages an external vendor to conduct quarterly vulnerability scanning. It also maintains cyber liability insurance.

Reinsurance Summary

BFLIC cedes the excess of its retained life risks to Optimum Re. Maximum net retention on any one life is $200,000. As of January 1, 2015, Optimum Re assumed a large collection of small treaties from Munich Re, including a couple of small treaties with BFLIC covering old term life policies. Currently, new term life and whole life policies in excess of BFLIC's retention are ceded to Optimum Re under separate open treaties. Effective January 1, 2016, BFLIC entered a first dollar quota share reinsurance treaty to cede excess Medicare supplement new business to Gen Re. Amounts ceded vary based on volume of business written.

Environmental, Social & Governance

AM Best considers BFLIG's exposure to material environmental, social and governance (ESG) risks as low. ESG initiatives have focused on investments, customer engagement and service, data privacy and cyber security and corporate governance. The company maintains an investment policy with an ESG approach managed by its investment management firm who is a signatory to the UN Principles for Responsible Investment (PRI). BFLIG operates in line with market peers and presently ESG factors are unlikely to impact the credit quality of the company over the short term. There are no regulatory requirements related to ESG, although the organization regularly monitors developments to ensure its practices are current.

Rating Lift/Drag

BFLIG has historically received capital infusions to support the group's product development and growth initiatives. These infusions have helped to stabilize its balance sheet, as premium development resulted in higher utilization, as well as required reserve increases. Volatility in operating results would have pressured capital and surplus without the capital infusions. Atlantic American also has a guarantee agreement in place to cover BFLIG's liabilities in the event it is necessary. As a result of this financial support, BFLIG has been awarded rating enhancement.
